Editorial

Tony Lyon

The final issue for 2010 is finally complete thanks to all the faithful contributors. Another interesting Journal with a variety of articles. We have an article from Max Bulley with help to put it together from Michael Barden. This demonstrates that there is help available if you feel you can't quite put it all together but have something to show the members. We are more than willing to help.

“Danks” for the memories somehow was lost in the system but has finally made the light of day. Earlier in the year I had a computer malfunction and lost some data. I guess the aforementioned article went down the plug hole with all my other data I had not taken a copy of which is very naughty of me. When will we ever learn. I now have a one Gig external drive to ensure I have adequate protection.

Already for the March 2011 issue I have an article from Colin Salt in England which I couldn't fit into this issue. Please keep the articles coming.

Richard Peck has written a fine response to a Brian Fuller question which illustrates the strength this society has when it comes to questions members have. Of course Brian now has another question so if you can answer it please do. Even better if it can be turned into an article.

The compliments of the season to you all and stay safe.

Till next time, ciao
