No, Tony has not thrown in the towel, died or suffered a like fate. Having sat in the Editor's chair since March 2002, Tony has gone to Indonesia for two & a half months on behalf of the Church. Maybe this is long service leave of sorts, so that he can recharge the batteries and, when he returns, continue the high standard journal to which we have become accustomed.

Last time I edited AJP (Dec 2001), I still used Windows 98 on an older computer. Today, using XP3 makes the job of formatting and editing simpler - you see, I am not an up-to-the-minute computer programme freak. When it works well, why change?

In this issue, we have a variety of reading & study for you. Brian Fuller is seeking feedback concerning the history of AP in Melbourne. If this is not recorded accurately, how long will it be before errors become 'gospel'. If you can help, please either do so directly with Brian or via the Editor.

"Danks for the Memories pt 2 concludes this interesting little Melbourne history. Despite problems with Tony's computer last year, we have managed to let this story see the light of day.

The Arab-Israeli Boycott is an interesting cover story. Bahrain was the only Arab League country to issue a 'Military Matters' boycott stamp and this changed colour somewhere between 1976 & 1985. John possesses 8 covers (of which I have illustrated 5). Prospective new owners should contact either the Editor or the seller directly.

Judy Kennett (with a little help from your erstwhile editor) is working hard on letters from Romania to Australia in the lead up to and early WW2. You will be able to read these interesting stories shortly.

Thank you for the increased flow of articles. Please keep up the good work; it benefits us all.

Auctions can produce some surprising results. In November last year an Australian cover was offered under an express mail heading. It was franked 2 pence and mailed from Wild Duck Creek, near Heathcote in Victoria, on Monday 4 December 1939. It was addressed to The Bendigo Advertiser, the same as the one shown below. The cover had an estimate of $200 and was sold for $300, plus buyer's commission. The catalogue description of the cover carried a note –

There is no mention in Post Office Guides of a "press parcel" service. It appears to have been an arrangement with the Victorian Railways whereby letters so endorsed were treated expeditiously on arrival.

A couple of weeks before the auction I bought the cover shown above for about 10% of the other one's buyer's commission. I thought it was interesting and might be worth $20, on a good day. It was posted from Arnold, south of Bridgewater on Loddon, on Tuesday 1 November 1939. Franked 1 penny, it went as second-class unsealed mail, whereas the Wild Duck Creek one went as a sealed letter. (Wild Duck Creek, incidentally, is now beneath the waters of the Eppalock dam).

Now, Wild Duck Creek is a more desirable postmark than Arnold, but is it worth $300 more? And was the catalogue note about an arrangement with the Railways correct?

Both covers went by rail: Wild Duck Creek mail went to Knowsley station 4 miles away on the now defunct Heathcote Junction to Bendigo line, and Arnold is on the Dunolly to Bridgewater line.

Classing the cover as express is probably fanciful. Both would have travelled by ordinary Railways transmission to Bendigo and on to the Advertiser office for sorting and opening. It was a simple process to separate important press copy from invoices and other annoying correspondence. The Advertiser probably supplied the envelopes to their country correspondents, typically for reporting weekend sports results.

I think that the explanation is as prosaic as I've described; and I remain of the view that it's a $20 cover. Apparently at least two bidders thought otherwise.

Introduction of Penny Postage – Unexpected Problems

Colin Salt.

On 1 May 1911 the 1d uniform rate was introduced into Australia and from that date mail for delivery in Australia and to any country within the British Empire was subject to the reduced rate of 1d per half ounce. The foreign rate remained at 2½d per half ounce, as it had been for many years.

Problems arose, particularly with letters addressed to the United States of America, which made up a significant proportion of the outgoing mail from Australia. The public had taken note of the 1d rate but not of the fact that it did not apply to foreign countries. Although the underpayment could be dealt with by means of a tax charge, revenue was lost because the charge was collected at destination.

As part of a public awareness campaign, notices were displayed in post offices in New South Wales (possibly elsewhere) drawing attention to the correct postage rate to the U.S.A. An example is illustrated on the next page. My copy is showing its age and it is printed in black on a yellowish hessian and has been reduced for display from the actual size which is 195mm x 400mm.

For clarification I repeat the wording below.

NOTICE.

INSUFFICIENTLY PREPAID LETTERS FOR PLACES OUTSIDE THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

SINCE the Introduction of penny postage letters for the United States of America are being posted to a considerable extent in this State insufficiently prepaid and in these cases double the deficiency has to be collected on delivery.

The attention of the public is therefore drawn to the fact that the penny postage system does not extend beyond the British Empire, and that all letters for places outside the Empire (including the United States of America) should be prepaid 2½d per half ounce.

E.J. YOUNG.
Deputy Postmaster General.

General Post Office,
Sydney. 16th August 1912.

NOTICE

INSUFFICIENTLY PREPAID LETTERS FOR PLACES OUTSIDE THE BRITISH EMPIRE

SINCE the introduction of penny postage letters for the United States of America are being posted to a considerable extent in this State insufficiently prepaid, and in these cases double the deficiency has to be collected on delivery.

The attention of the public is therefore drawn to the fact that the penny postage system does not extend beyond the British Empire, and that all letters for places outside the Empire (including the United States of America) should be prepaid 2½d. per half ounce.

General Post Office,
London, 10th August 1912

E. J. YOUNG,
Deputy Postmaster General.

In addition to the posters, handstamps were prepared and used on outgoing taxed mail asking the addressee to 'advise their correspondent' of the problem. Examples are shown below.

Underpaid cover to U.S.A. taxed accordingly and showing the advisory handstamp

Used in Perth.

A number of these marks exist with different wording although the message remains the same. To date I have recorded 13.

A slogan cancellation was introduced in 1926 drawing attention to the USA rate. Over the next 15 years a number of different types were used throughout Australia and, although they were not officially withdrawn until 1949, very little use was made of them after 1941¹

A change in procedure took place sometime in 1930, possibly earlier – I have been unable to determine the exact date - but underpaid mail was retained whilst an attempt was made to secure the payment of the correct postage by the sender, thus ensuring that The Australian General Post Office was correctly remunerated for the service provided.

Universal Postal Union regulations were silent on the subject of mail retention so the view was probably taken that what was not specifically forbidden was allowed.

1712. Insufficiently Prepaid Articles.—An air mail article addressed to a place within the Commonwealth, or to Papua or New Guinea, which is insufficiently prepaid should be surcharged double the deficiency, and sent on for collection of the amount upon delivery. An air mail article addressed to the United Kingdom should be similarly treated if the sender's error cannot be rectified without causing the article to miss the next outward mail. Where the sender is known, and delay would not result, endeavour should be made to arrange for the sender to place the necessary further postage stamps on the article before despatch from the office of posting.

1713. The sender of an insufficiently prepaid air mail article addressed to a country other than those mentioned in the preceding paragraph should (when the sender is known) also be asked to pay the deficiency before the despatch of the article. If the sender is unknown, or if he refuses to pay the additional amount, the postage stamps on the article must be cancelled with the office date stamp. The article, unsurcharged, must then be enclosed in a departmental envelope (together with a slip bearing a notation, "Sender unknown," or "Sender refuses to pay deficiency," as the case may be), and forwarded to the Superintendent of Mails (Air Mail Section), General Post Office.

I recently bought an accumulation of postage due covers at auction. This brief extract from GPO regulations was included. A pencil note '1935' is on the back.

The cover illustrated below with a 1930 date suggests that the change took place before 1935,

Returned for an additional 1d which has been stuck over the original machine cancel.

The following covers show variation in the way the additional payment was requested

The label appears to have been cut from a duplicated sheet and the left edge glued to the envelope

Label fixed with a pin. A remarkable survivor

The situation changed in the late 1950's with the introduction of cards PM28 and PM 28a from which point the letters were held for a brief period at the GPO or sorting office pending full payment rather than sending them back to the originator for that purpose.

Cover Story: The Arab – Israeli Boycott

John Lancaster

As one gets older one requires less stuff around clogging up the familial ties; so better to consign whilst able to do so. The eight covers, which form the basis of this brief article (5 illustrated – Ed) will now be passed onto the Brotherhood to raise money for their missionary efforts – unless some deserving soul places a large amount of folding material in the writer's hands.

War tax stamps have been used in one form or another since the Spanish wars of 1874, extensively throughout the First and Second World Wars and even by the Office of the Arab Boycott of Israel, especially during the 1967 Arab-Israel war.

The airmail covers below from Bahrain to various major Australian export companies were mailed from 1974 to 1988. Each has the locally produced Bahrain War Tax 5 fils blue stamp [SG T 198] issued in 1974 applied to the cover. The American Scott catalogue lists war tax stamps using the "MR" prefix. Letters in the 1980s show an aqua coloured stamp. The Universal Enterprises Bahrain cover of 18 April 1974 to Camberwell is probably one of the earliest recorded to Australia.

The background to the boycott issue is interesting, being bound up in the ever-changing politico-economic issues of the Middle East. Arab boycotts of Jewish interests started as early as 1922, some 26 years before the establishment of Israel. The original boycott forswore with any Jewish owned business operating in the British Mandate of Palestine.¹ However an officially organized boycott was only adopted by the Arab League after the 1948 Arab-Israeli War. The implementation of the boycott has varied over time among member states with a number of the Arab League countries no longer enforcing the boycott.

In 1951, the Arab League established the Office of the Arab Boycott of Israel based in Damascus, Syria in order to boycott companies that did business with Israel from operating in the Arab world. The boycott list was maintained by a special office within the Arab League called the "Central Boycott Office". Each participating Arab League state had its own national office. The Central Boycott Office has always been headquartered in Damascus, although there was no meeting of the co-ordinating committee from 1993 to 2002 due to the fact they have not had a quorum.

The Arab League is a regional organization of Arab states in Southwest Asia, and North and Northeast Africa. It was formed in Cairo on 22 March 1945 with six members: Egypt, Iraq, Transjordan [renamed Jordan after 1946], Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, and Syria. Yemen joined as a member on 5 May 1945. The Arab League currently has 22 members. The main goal of the league is to "draw closer the relations between member States and co-ordinate collaboration between them, to safeguard their independence and sovereignty, and to consider in a general way the affairs and interests of the Arab countries."

Aerogramme posted 22 Apr 75 from Bahrain requesting lamb tongues

The Gulf Co-operation Council consists of the following countries – Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, and the 7 UAE members (Abu Dhabi, Ajman, Dubai, Fujairah, Rasal-Khaimana, Sharjah & Umm-al-Quwain)

In its heyday, the Arab boycott office blacklisted more than 8,500 companies, including Coca-Cola [bottling plant in Israel], the Ford Motor Co and Elizabeth Taylor films, thus effectively being banned from all of the other Arab countries. This resulted in quite a significant boon for cokes competitor Pepsi as well as for Japanese car manufacturers. There are sixteen countries that do not accept Israeli passports. Because of the boycott, certain products, which were ubiquitous elsewhere in the world, such as Pepsi, McDonald's and most Japanese cars, were not to be found in Israel until the boycott began waning in the late 1980s. A similar situation existed in the Arab world which boycotted the products of companies that were selling in Israel as in the case of Coca-Cola.

Officially, the boycott covers three areas:²

- Products/services originating in Israel [referred to as the primary boycott and still enforced in many Arab states];
- Businesses in non-Arab countries that do business with Israel [secondary boycott];
- Businesses shipped or flown into Israeli ports [the tertiary boycott].

1986 letter carried to Australia in the Diplomatic bag, then posted in Melbourne,
The 5 fils war stamp is aqua now

At one point the boycott was observed by the entire Arab League. Today, only Lebanon and Syria adhere to it stringently. Bahrain would appear to have been the only Arab state to produce and apply an actual boycott label – significantly in the Israeli colours originally.

Enforcement of the boycott remains the responsibility of individual member states and enforcement efforts vary widely from country to country. It would appear that the Arab boycott had effectively ceased to exist by 1996 however, in 2008 Bahrain's parliament started to press its government to reopen the country's Israel Boycott Office, which was closed in 2006 under pressure from Washington. Prior to its closure, the boycott office had overseen government efforts to bar entry to Israeli-made goods in accordance with the Arab League's economic and trade embargo against the Jewish state

Australia Post Melbourne Timelines

Brian Fuller

The Post Office has been in Victoria since very early times of settlement. The very early period did not have official post offices but gradually developed as civilization exploded into Victoria.

As volumes increased, so did the number of offices and facilities and their roles. As efficiency and delivery of the service became more critical, many facilities were formed or amalgamated, and roles changed. The information regarding these formations and devolutions is rather disparate and I will try to amalgamate the plethora of information.

Many of the dates are conflicting as are their locations and roles. Dates conflict for many reasons, including operating date and official opening dates. Functions changed as the operational or control need arose. Titles changed for the same reason, even though the facility might continue to do what it has always done.

Many facilities have roles unknown to me. Readers might appreciate their roles and share them with us. I do not intend to detail the roles of the major facilities I am listing. I am also ignoring administrative and engineering facilities; likewise for other non-mail processing facilities, such as post offices within the Melbourne Central Business District (CBD). The GPO is included because of its fundamental importance.

This paper may assist those marcophilists who have CDS or cachets etc, on or off envelopes, to deduce at which facility the mark was actually made irrespective of the wording on the imprint. For example: in the 1970s the Melbourne MC loaned its CDS to the State MC until it acquired its own. See my paper The State Mail Centre Melbourne, A Postmark Review supplement in the Date Stamp #4, Aug 85. The Earliest (ERD) and Latest (LRD) dates for a facility can also be confidently established.

AP has recently been updating its records for its 200 years of existence and I have taken extracts from disparate documents produced over the years, hence minimal acknowledgement. Most of the other dates originate from my and a few from David Wood's scribings (DW). I also commend George Knights' research (GK) on The Postal History of Melbourne 1835 – 1912 in the Date Stamp #10 Supplement, Nov 83. Australia Post Public Relations Office also released a document "History of the GPO Melbourne".

Symbols used < = earlier than > = later than

First Mail receiving station was at John Batman's house at Batman's Hill (GK). Batman and his family settled at what became known as Batman's Hill at the western end of Collins Street, building a house at the base in April 1836, where he lived until his death (Wikipedia).

13 Apr 1837 Mr E J Foster appointed as Melbourne's first official postmaster. Post Office established in Collins St opposite the National Mutual Centre and according to AP is still there.

Jan 1838 PO transferred to Flinders St around the corner from King St. The 3rd postmaster was Capt Benjamin Baxter and his residence was owned by J P Fawkner (GK).

Apr 1839 (GK) PO transferred to Collins St (Postmaster Skein Craig's store) near the RIALTO. Apparently a crude bark-covered hut (AP).

1 Sep 1839 (GK) The Postmaster, David Kelsh, took up his post. PO transferred to Lt Collins St between William/Queen St possibly then called Chancery Lane. First official PO.

1841 (GK) PO transferred to a portion of the site fronting onto Bourke St (GK).

11 Aug 1841 First official PO building opened on the Elizabeth St / Bourke St GPO site.

1859 Whole building sold and site cleared for a new building. A Section, facing Post Office Place, was left standing to enable business to be continued during building operations (AP).

1 Jul 1867 GPO - Crouch and Ramsay designed building corner Bourke & Elizabeth Streets opened.

< 1888 Spencer Street PO (SSPO) opened with its counter entrance in Spencer St(?). Formed in pre CME building circa 1888(?). I suspect it was subsumed with the opening of the GPO being transferred to Spencer St.

4 Jun 1917 GPO transferred to corner Bourke & Spencer Streets. Formation of the complex at Bourke and Spencer streets Melbourne was called ? The building facade says CME but was it only the GPO ? The GPO and ALL its functions are believed to have been transferred there. Elizabeth St still received, cancelled, and distributed mail including letters, newspapers, and parcels.

PO renamed Elizabeth St PO ? ELIZABETH ST Krag continuous roller currently has ERD 25 JUL17 and LRD 3 JUL18.

c 1930-32 (hypothesis) Chief Parcels Office created at 300 King St Melbourne controlled by MEB. I suspect the MEB was an HQ function and postally was the GPO and ME ?

1936 Mail Branch (MB) formed. Within GPO is unknown

1954 MB changed to Mail Exchange (ME). Were the ME and GPO co-located ?

1957 ME changed to Mail Exchange Branch.

It is the period post 1JUN64 that is of primary interest to me and the establishment of many major postal facilities. It is also the area most fraught with inaccuracies in regards structure and sequence. Please provide corrections ASAP else they might continue uncorrected. Many catalogues issued by auction houses have inaccurate or suspect dates and data when referring to a facility's location and opening or closing date.

1 Jan 64 GPO title transferred back to Elizabeth St. Did Spencer St PO open then?

1 Jan 64 Central Mail Exchange (CME) created when GPO vacated Spencer St retaining all functions of the "departing GPO". From a FEB1965 pamphlet these included: INLAND & RECEIVING SECTION, INTERSTATE & OVERSEAS SECTION, CHIEF PARCELS OFFICE, REGISTRATION SECTION, CITY SECTION, plus Mail Officer Training School (Degraives St(?)), DLO (next door with Investigation Branch), Waybills Office, Canvas Workshops, and Printing Office. 66 million articles processed 13-25DEC64.

1965 I have two cryptic notes MEB (Branch) formed – where HQ ?, and MEP (Processing?)

1 Jul 75 Post Master General's Dept split into Telecom and Australia Post. Decentralization of mail processing began.

3 Aug 75 Blackburn MC opened (changed to Eastern MC 1 Oct 91 (DW)).

26 Oct 75 Geelong MC opened.

16 May 76 Ballarat MC opened.

30 Oct 77 Morwell MC opened.

13 Nov 77 Bendigo and Seymour MC opened.

7/8 Oct 78 Clayton South MC opened (changed to Southern MC 1 Oct 91 (DW)).

26 Feb 79 City Delivery Centre(CDC) formed. Servicing Melbourne City mails.

1 Apr 79 Spencer Street MC (SSMC) opened. Servicing Melbourne mails on 3rd and 4th floors of Bourke/Spencer streets building.

State Residue MC(SRMC) formed from remnants of CME. Ground, 1st, and 2nd floors of Bourke / Spencer streets building. Interstate and overseas functions of mail processing.

19 Nov 79 Preston MC opened (changed to Northern MC 1OCT91 DW)

Apr 79 Footscray W MC opened in State MC (DW)

13 Oct 79 Footscray W MC closed in State MC and relocated. (DW)

14 Oct/23Nov 79 Footscray West MC opened (changed to Western MC 1OCT91 DW).

1970/80s(?) Asbestos found in the CME building. Relocation of responsibilities inevitable and floor changes of the resident MCs would have been precipitated.

1980 Form PPC (8/80) - AP/Customs Assessment Notice indicates The Customs Section of Overseas Inwards Parcel Section was located at 172/184 Roden St, W Melbourne.

1 Nov 81 International MC Maffra St opened. SRMC function SHIP MAIL ROOM closed.

1 Nov 81 SRMC became State Bulk MC (SBMC). Only interstate mail processing and CPO.

82/83 ? CDC became City Delivery MC(CDMC).

- 82/83 ? City Street DC became City Street Delivery MC (CSDMC).
- 1 May 83 SSMC became Melbourne MC (MMC).
- 1 May 83 SBMC became State MC. Parcels for Melbourne city transferred from CPO to City Delivery Section/Centre(?). Roden Street (Opened/Closed ?) was the delivery depot (City Parcels Delivery Centre (CPDC)).
- 86-88 ? Interstate Surface Mail Transit Centre (ISMTC) formed from State MC and CPDC.
- 24 Jun 89 CPO King St Closed
- 25 Jun 89 State Parcel Centre Bertie St Port Melb Opened see 24APR92 comment.
- 23 Jul 89 Melbourne MC(MMC) transferred to XXX Spencer St Melbourne on the corner of Latrobe and Spencer Streets.
- 23 Jul 89 SBMC became State MC and was officially opened 28AUG89.
- 6 Aug 89 Eastern Suburbs Parcels Centre opens 18 Joseph St Blackburn.
- 6 Aug 89 Western Suburbs Parcels Centre opens Minnie St Yarraville.

- 10 Apr 03 MCMC closes
- 13 Apr 03 SMC closes but 12JUL03 is the latest SMC FSM date!
- Oct 06 MGF became fully operational

Summary After 1 Jun 64 many major postal facilities were established. It is from this period marcophilists need to be assured that for their collections they have accurate data to enable them to confidently arrange their collection or purchase appropriate items.

I believe that this is the first time such an exercise to sequence facilities for a city, particularly one as complex as Melbourne, has been attempted. Please provide any corrections ASAP, else they might continue uncorrected. If catalogues issued by auction houses have inaccurate or suspect dates and data when referring to a facility opening/closing please attempt to confirm their source of data and if different from mine, please advise me.

John Danks died after a short illness at his South Melbourne home on 28 February 1902, being survived by his wife Ann and by a daughter and son of their eight children.

Woolworths entered an agreement with the US home improvement retailer Lowe's Companies Inc to buy Danks. Danks supplies more than 580 independently owned and operated shops through the Home Timber & Hardware, Thrifty-Link Hardware and PlantsPlus brands. It also supplies another 980 independent retailers. The Woolworths and Lowe's joint venture is offering $13.50 per Danks share, valuing the company at $87.6 million. Lowe's is a US Fortune 50 company with more than 1600 stores across the US and Canada, serving about 14 million customers a week. Its only significant competitor is Home Depot. It will have a one-third interest in Woolworth's hardware and home improvement business.

Notes

James McEwan & Co was established in 1852. In 1977 their address was shown as 387-403 Bourke Street, Melbourne. James McEwan Ltd was deregistered on 28 April 1997.

1946 International Reply Paid Coupon from Couvin, Belgium

Surcharged using 182 Brussels 1 before being sent to Couvain

Reverse in four more languages

International reply coupons were (and still are, I believe) exchangeable at any post office within a UPU member country to pay the return postage cost. From 20 May 1946, external single rate postage was 3¹⁵ Fr of the 6³⁰ Fr new value of the coupon (7 Fr -10%). Registration was also 3¹⁵ Fr. Airmail costs varied, but could be included as part payment

-10% coupons are exceedingly rare and are known only with 800 Brussels 1 surcharge. This provisional issue commenced on 20 May 1946. Provisional surcharges on stamps and postal stationery ended with the Belgian government ordering all provisional cancellers to be handed in (Service Note 38 of 17 September 1946), something which was not always obeyed properly. This resulted in many forgeries, particularly to obsolete stamps. However, postage remained the same until 15 December 1948.

Hand-Held Date Stamps

Co-ordinated by George Vearing

Further to the story about the Wunghnu Post Office in last month's Journal, residents are now receiving their mail and I will endeavour to find out how this is being done.

I had an informative letter from Peter Dearie about Permanent Pictorial Datestamps and he says that about 180 post offices have discontinued their datestamp without announcement. These include Wangaratta (both Air World and Jazz Festival), Kaniva, Healesville, Ascot Vale and Bayside Frankston. Peter says that one of his biggest problems is Postal Managers not answering his requests. If any of our readers have any information, please let me know and I will pass it on.

Many thanks to Richard Peck, John Tracey, John Young, Simon Alsop and all the others who have sent in postmark material. (Please note George's new email – see p 2 – Ed)

Thrice censored inter-bank letter from Morocco to Martinique

Casablanca-Bourse/Maroc CDS of 4 August 1943

Fort-de-France / Martinique arrival cds (verso) dated 22 September 43

- Censored
1. Casablanca and closed with brown tape and tied by Overt par l' Autorité Militaire (not shown, verso)
 2. London. Closed using PC 90 tape marked Opened by Examiner 1482
 3. Censure Militaire / Martinique / 12 censor's cachet (verso), but unopened this time

Postage	1 ⁵⁰ Fr (≤ 20 gm) (French inter-Colonial rate)
Airmail to Martinique	17 Fr (≤ 5 gm)

Probable Route Casablanca to Tangier by rail. Flown by Iberia from Tangier to Seville, Madrid and Lisbon (CAIS 191 of 10 Feb - wef 10 Jan) . BOAC or KLM charter to Shannon. Shuttle flying boat from Shannon to Poole. To London by train (censored and red OAT I cachet applied to top of 60 letter packet). Either a) BOAC northern route to New York via Foynes (Shannon), Gander & Shediac to New York, or b) Shannon, Lisbon, Pan-Am FAM-18 flying boat to New York. Train to Miami and then on Pan-AM's Caribbean route to Martinique. The intended routing as paid was from Lisbon to go trans-Atlantic, not via London.

The letter took 7 weeks to arrive. Not bad when you consider many flights were often at weekly intervals and the queuing for censoring. As we saw previously, London was keen to censor letters from previously Vichy French Colonies in an effort to learn anything, hence the routing via London. This was probably arranged in Lisbon. Vichy money laundering?
